10. By this time, our original crews had all returned to the ZI, in keeping with the rotation policy for Combat Crews. However our Squadron Commander, Operations Officer, and Squadron Navigator were still with us.

11. Training, for the month consisted of indoctrination of new crews, for the most part. However, quite a number of "refresher" courses were given, along with current training. Air training along similar lines continued, with most of the time devoted to new crews. Practice bombing was given top priority, whenever weather permitted. Ninety Aircraft were dispatched for a total of one hundred eighty training hours.

12. The Squadron Ball Diamond was begun, and plans laid for having inter-departmental baseball games. Development of the Squadron Area continued, with the construction of the new day-room begun. Plans were made, and ground work begun on the Information and Education Program.

13. Every member of the squadron took pride in the important part the Group played, in the campaign for "the beginning of the end" of the Nazis—and it was with a feeling of pleasure that we received news of the success of our bombings of Marshalling Yards, Communication Centers, Bridges and other tactical targets.

Per par 8, SO 98, Hq 397th Bomb Gp, the following transfers into the Squadron were effected: 5 Officers from the 597th Bomb Sq, 4 Officers from the 598th Bomb Sq, and 3 Officers from the 599th Bomb Sq. 1st Lt. Frank L. Devine was relieved from assignment and assigned to the 391st Bomb Gp, per par 7, SO 96, Hq 397th Bomb Gp..

4. The Squadron received its regular monthly technical and tactical inspection during the month, as well as an administrative inspection.

5. The development of the squadron area continued, with wonderful improvement in the general living site: well laid-out paths, and betterment of the tents themselves made conditions much more pleasant. The enlisted mens' club and day-room were completed, as were the Officers' day-room and mess-hall. An excellent athletic field was constructed, and "intra-Squadron" competition in base-ball is very heated, as is the "inter-Squadron tourney, within the Group itself.

6. A training program for all personnel was begun during the month, and in addition, the conversion to make ours a Shoran Squadron was started. Even though this necessitated a complete readjustment, of equipment, personnel and training devices, the end of June found the 596th well along the way. The ground training was extensive and interesting. Aircraft training hours totaled 772 for the month.

596TH BOMBARDMENT SQUADRON (M)
397TH BOMBARDMENT GROUP (M), APO 140, FRANCE

20 August 1945

SUBJECT: July 1945 Installment of Squadron History.

TO : Historical Section, IX Bombardment Division, APO 140, U.S. Army.
(through 397th Bomb Gp (M), APO 140, U.S. Army.)

1. The following information is submitted, with reference to the history of this squadron for the month of July:

(a). Squadron remained at station A 72, Peronne, France.

(b). Strength of the unit as of the last day of the month was 109 Officers and 405 enlisted men.

(c). Negative.

(d). Negative.

(e). Awards and decorations received by personnel of the squadron during the month were as follows:

Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal, per GO 41, Hq 9th AD, dated 3 July 1945.

2. The following promotions of Officers were announced during the month:

2nd Lt. Anthony R. Zack (O-0705513) to 1st Lt., per par 2, SO 197, Hq 9th Air Force, with date of ranking of 16 July 1945.

3. In keeping with the Rehabilitation and Rest program, and having completed the required number of missions the following officers departed this station for the Zone of Interior: Capt. Dale, Lt. Halloran, Lt. Joos, Lt. Nock, as well as Lt. Hladick, Lt. McGuillicuddy and Lt. McGriffin.

4. In order to continue our work as a Shoran squadron, two new Radar Officers were assigned and joined the squadron:

5. During this month, the squadron received its IG Inspection, by the 9th Air Division, as well as its usual monthly tactical, technical and administrative inspection by the Group.

6. Improvements in the squadron area continued, and new radar equipment was installed in the newly completed Radar Building—a Link Trainer was installed, to further along our Shoran Training, and the Class Room was completed. The men were occupied on Saturday mornings with a regular Saturday morning personnel and area inspection, and our required one hour of close-order drill was made a bit more bearable, by breaking it down into ten-minute periods, each morning after Reveille Formation. Physical training periods for each man became the rule, rather than the exception, and a very small number of our personnel was enabled to participate in the I and E program, by attending Schools. However, it is the consensus of opinion that the program is failing in its goal—to keep the men occupied, and simultaneously, to further their education—because of the minute percentage of men who are able to participate in the Program.

7. With the re-deployment program beginning to swing into step, the Squadron began to take on the appearance of a replacement pool. Our original personnel were leaving for new units, and other men were arriving daily, to re-place them. Dances were held for both the officers, and for the enlisted men at regular intervals during the month.

8. Flying training continued during the month, with emphasis placed on practice bombing, and instrument flying. Transition flights continued, and several cross country, 398 mile navigational flights were flown.
