

Chapter 1 - Boy Meets Girl [v3]

George Adam Hofmann

Great Grandfather Johann Hofmann, seated at right on porch, immigrated to the United States with his brother Adam, seated at left on the porch, from Bremen on the passenger ship Ohio in 1872. Adam and his son, John Frederick (who I knew as Uncle Fred) opened the Sherman Park Market in Thornwood, New York where both he and Johann started their estates.

Adam, born in Germany in 1846, married Anna Katherine and had two sons, John Frederick and George (who I only saw twice – once peeking through a ceiling vent at Uncle Fred’s house [they said George was a little strange!] and at his funeral). That was the first funeral I ever attended sometime in the early to mid fifties and all I remember is how much he looked like my father.

Adam and Anna also had three daughters, Annie, Helena (Helen, Lena or as I knew her, Aunt Lena [in German, Tante Lena] and Gertrude (Aunt Gert) who married Julius Rauh and started the family relationship between the Hofmann’s and Rauh’s in Westchester County.

Johann, born in Germany in 1846, took the American name John and he and his wife, Mary, had six children, John Arthur (1876), Mary (1877), Margaret (1878), Jacob (1880), Henry (1883) and George (1890).

Johann, seated at left next to Mary. Their son, John Arthur in the straw hat stands behind them holding his daughter Gladys. Her brother Fred, 12 years older, sits to the right of his grandparents.

John married Minnie Louise Gartner (1872), daughter of Georg and Margaritte Gartner of Schneeberg, Germany, and between them had three sons and one daughter; Fred (1903), Arthur (Ardie – 1905), Gladys (1915) and George Adam (1917).

George had the pleasure of growing up in the big city during the roaring twenties when this photo was taken with cousin Gilbert Rauh in Thornwood. Unfortunately, he also felt the pain of the stock market crash and the start of the Great Depression in 1927 when he was twelve.
